WEST SIDE EVENTS.

Rev. W. S. Jones' Stay With His Present Charge Depends on the Action of the Church in Wales.

After repeated urging Rev. W. S. Jones has partly consented to remain as pastor of the First Welsh Baptist church. At last night's meeting of the church, after the regular service, Mr. Jones responded to the request made by the church that he reconsider his resignation. Mr. Jones stated last night that he could not consistently remain with the First Welsh Baptist church inasmuch as he had accepted a call from the Trinity Street Baptist church at Glamorganshire. He hinted that if the church in Wales would release him from the moral contract he would reconsider his resignation. On motion the church secretary was instructed to communicate with the Trinity street church and ask them to free Mr. Jones. This will remain on the West Side until the spring. He has been conscientious in his term in it to go to Wales. He stays with the West Side church only with a sacrifice.

WORK OF THE GRIM REAPER.

Peter F. Allen, aged 56 years, died Saturday at his home, 223 Chestnut street. He was born in New York city and has lived in Scranton for many years. He was employed in the works of the Scranton Stone Cutting company on the West Mountain. He was a member of Union Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, and also of Lodge No. 134, Grand Army of the Republic. As a man, the deceased was of good character, loved by many friends and throughout life he worked honestly and with a generous nature. He is survived by a wife and the following children: Mrs. Eugene Kresge, Aaron F. Irwin, Sara and Bert Allen. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence. Interment will be made in Forest Hill cemetery.

The funeral of William J. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Jones, of 1314 Hampton street, will take place this afternoon. Interment will be made in Washburn street cemetery.

A child of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Lance, of Eyon street, was buried yesterday afternoon in the Washburn street cemetery. The funeral was largely attended.

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Johnson, of Eyon street, will be buried this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family home. Interment will be made in Washburn street cemetery.

The remains of the late Miss Mary J. James were placed Saturday afternoon from the family home at Landis, Bellevue. The services were largely attended as the friends of the departed young woman were many. Rev. J. T. Morris conducted services at the Bellevue Welsh Calvinistic Methodist church after the close of the house services. Many floral tributes were in evidence. The lower burials were Frank Jones and John Davis; pall-bearers, Robert Roberts, D. E. Davis, William Davis, William Samuel, T. P. Phillips and Thomas Jones. The interment was made in Washburn street cemetery.

IT WAS NOT MORGAN.

In Scranton's Tribune on the local page mentioned a death of a young man of a certain on the crescent orchestra while a dance was going on Friday night. The Tribune said that William J. Morgan was in charge of the hall. This is not true. It was not William J. Morgan, but another young man by the same name, William J. Morgan called at the West Side Saturday. He wished to state positively that it was not he, personally, who was referred to in the item, and he wanted a correction made. Whoever it was, readers will bear in mind that it was not the William J. Morgan who called at this office.

A FORMER HYDE PARKER.

Rev. M. H. Jones, who was born in Hyde Park thirty years ago, and who left for Wales at the age of 12 years, has returned to this country. Mr. Jones has studied for and has entered the ministry. He has accepted a call to the Baptist church at Parsons, and will next Sunday begin his pastorate at that church. He has many friends on the West Side who are pleased at his success. His father, James H. Jones, is the person who built the familiar "see house block" in Washburn street.

MURPHY AND HIS BROOM.

A man named Murphy, of one of the avenues, became intoxicated on Saturday night and he fell in good spirits about 9 o'clock. He started in a zig-zag manner down Main avenue, and when in front of the Hyde Park Bazaar in the Mears hall building, Tom saw a broom placed outside as an advertisement. He grabbed the broom and went up to the hall, where a dance was in progress. He wanted to clean the place out, people and all. Tom had just begun to sweep when Lieutenant Williams arrived. At a hearing before Alderman Kellow yesterday morning Murphy was given the choice of spending thirty days in the county jail or to pay $10. His choice was neither, and today he will be forced to retire to the seclusion of a lonely life on Washington avenue.

The following were present: Misses Lulu Evans, Sarah Lewis, Norma Williams, Lizzie McKim, Mattie Williams, May Browning, Rachel Elias, Margaret Harlow, Annie T. Humphreys, Lizzie Lewis, Eliza Jones, Charlotte Davies, Mary A. Thomas, Annie Davies and Esther Thomas.

Services, conducted by Rev. D. M. Kinter, of the Christian church, were held at the residence, 211 Hollis street, at 2 o'clock. The casket was borne by many and costly, including a harp covered with evergreen and tea roses, presented by Crump's band; a wreath of roses, presented by the Knights of the Mystic Chain, and a pillow of roses with the words "Rest" and "Peace," the gift of friends. The deceased was a member of the Storer's Accidental fund, Knights of the Mystic Chain and Crump's band, which societies attended in a body, making the funeral one of the largest ever witnessed in this section. The pall-bearers were John F. Connell and Thomas Harris, of the Knights of the Mystic Chain; William Williams, of the Accidental fund, and William J. Morgan and Thomas Evans, of Crump's band. Interment was made in Washburn street cemetery.

MINOOKA.

Thomas Costello, of Kingston, circulated among Minooka friends yesterday.

The Independent Literary club will conduct a social this evening at Weber's rink.

Much interest is manifested in the coming shooting match between John Coyne, our well known townsman, and Frank Webb, of Avoca, which takes place on Nov. 17.

Not a few of the Minooka friends of Mr. Coyne expect him to outshoot his opponent with ease.

As usual complaints are numerous about the conduct of the gang of boisterous youths who congregate near the No. 1 school nightly. It appears the object of this crowd of contemptible blackguards is to insult the teachers and annoy the other pupils if possible. Some of this gang enter the primary rooms and defy their teachers to quiet them by threats and intimidation with slates, while other lunk around the building and throw stones at the scholars and break windows.

From present indications the spring election promises to be interesting as the crop of office seekers is already large.

A foot ball eleven has been organized by some of the boys at No. 1 school. The team is open to play any school team under 11 years.

GOV. PINGRE'S PROGRAMME.

Michigan's New Executive Lays Out an Extensive Reform Scheme.

Detroit, Nov. 15.—Governor Pingree's nearest adviser, Colonel John Atkinson, who was elected to the legislature at the personal request of the governor, has outlined the reforms which the governor will attempt to carry out. Colonel Atkinson says he will recommend primary elections, doing away with conventions, giving the nomination to the people, and the suspension of the mill fare on all the railroads in the lower peninsula; the taxation of railroad property the same as other property; the application to the principles of the interstate commerce commission to commerce within the state, so as to secure fairness, a vote of all the people on public franchises, such as street railways, as a check upon the corruption of aldermen and the like; the suppression of trusts and monopolies as far as the state can go, laws to curtail overcapitalization of corporations and swindles committed by the promoters, and laws against coercion, and particularly to prevent the formation of a quasi-public character, like railroads and banks, from exerting undue influence in elections.

The colonel adds that the railroads will try to control the organization of both houses in order to knock out the governor, but the governor will press the effect that the situation there is very threatening and not borne out by the action of the representatives of the powers there. Baron von Calice, the ambassador and doyen of the diplomatic corps, has gone to Cairo to attend a holiday. M. Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador, was in Vienna on Thursday night. He is going to St. Petersburg. Baron von Saurma-Jeltsch, the German ambassador, is somewhere in South Germany.

Unless the Sultan springs another massacre, diplomacy at Constantinople will have nothing to do for another month. M. Cambon, the French ambassador, alone remains at his post, and has been instructed by his government to closely watch the application of the promised reforms.

THE SULTAN'S PROMISES.

It is thought there is little prospect that he will fulfill them.

London, Nov. 15.—Notwithstanding the fact that the Sultan has promised to execute sweeping reforms throughout his dominions, his promises are still looked at askance by those here who have had experience of his artfulness and lack of good intention.

The alarmist reports alleged to have been telegraphed from Constantinople to the effect that the situation there is very threatening are not borne out by the action of the representatives of the powers there. Baron von Calice, the ambassador and doyen of the diplomatic corps, has gone to Cairo to attend a holiday. M. Nelidoff, the Russian ambassador, was in Vienna on Thursday night. He is going to St. Petersburg. Baron von Saurma-Jeltsch, the German ambassador, is somewhere in South Germany.

MAGGIE CLINE AND HER SONGS

They Attracted a Large Audience to the Frothingham Saturday Night.

ON BROADWAY ONLY INCIDENTAL.

It is of the highly improbable, Ultra-melodramatic Type -- Otoroceros Pleased Two Large Audiences at the Academy of Music--Attractions at the Play Houses of the City During the Week.

Maggie Cline received a right royal reception at the Frothingham Saturday night, where she appeared as the heroine and the bright particular star of "On Broadway," a melodrama in all that the word implies and more. The curtain had been up but a few minutes when Maggie dashed on the stage like the far end of Friday's lightning. She was given a hearty "hand" and soon after delighted the audience with "Arrah Go On, Your Own 'Tisane," which evoked a storm of applause.

It was in the last act, however, that Miss Cline aroused her audience to a display of its latent possibilities in the way of domestic crime. The singing "Throw Him Down McCloskey" did the trick.

That classic ditty in which the proceeds of one day's McCloskey is told in language chaste and choice, has sung before in Scranton without causing much of a furor, but it was altogether different Saturday night.

Then Maggie Cline sang it. Her voice is nothing to brag about; in fact, it would be difficult to say in which way it is superior to the average, but she imparts what the novelist would term local color, with a skill that is unsurpassed. It is this faculty that has made Maggie Cline the singing sensation notwithstanding her voice.

When she had related the first stanza of the adventures of McCloskey a mild wave of applause swept over the house, and when the second stanza was completed the manifestations of approval were more than enthusiastic. When the third stanza was sung, the applause had been glorified, the applause swept through the gallery like the whistle of a West Indian hurricane. The balcony was put in a state of commotion.

Miss Cline tried to speak the lines of the drama that follow the song, but the audience would not have it. They wanted to hear the singing. She sang "On Broadway" and "McCloskey." Finally the singer walked down to the footlights and begged the audience to excuse her. It was one of her characteristic little speeches. She had worked so hard in the song that really she could not sing another line. She hoped the audience would excuse her, she knew it well, and it did so.

Her irrepressible individual made a demand that Miss Cline sing "Mary Ann Kehoe."

As the melodrama it is of the highly improbable ultra-melodramatic type, but no one pays any particular attention to that. In the opening act all kinds of characters are introduced at the home of the Brady's, away down town. The authors evidently saw no incongruity in bringing them all together again in the fashionable homes of Society in Madison Square.

John Harvey, of Butler street, is suffering from a badly inflamed hand, the result of his being pierced with a rusty nail.

The Loyal Temperance Legion held a rally in Boyle's hall last Saturday night. The speaker of the evening was Victor H. Pinkney, who, in the course of his remarks, made the necessity of instructing and educating our youth into the fundamental governing principles of the republic.

Frank Konjo, body and legs terribly mangled, will probably die. Bob Ewers, both eyes blown out, skull fractured, probably fatally injured; Josephine Konjo, daughter of Frank Konjo, badly cut and bruised.

Seven other persons who were sleeping in the house at the time of the explosion escaped injury.

The explosion evidently was the result of a deliberate plot to murder Konjo and family in settlement of an old feud. One of the charges of dynamite had been placed under Josephine's bedroom and the other under that occupied by Konjo. Josephine and Ewers were sitting in Josephine's room when the first explosion occurred, the charge shooting straight up through the floor into Ewers' face, part of it striking the girl. Awakened by the noise of the explosion, Konjo jumped out of bed just in time to receive the full benefit of the second charge. Konjo and Ewers were taken to the Emergency hospital, irreparably lacerated and bruised, and the doctors have little hope of saving their lives.

The police are looking for a Pole who was seen running out of the charge with having committed the outrage.

THE VENEZUELAN CASE.

Talk in England as to the British Members of the Arbitration Court.

London, Nov. 15.—Sir Richard Webster, attorney general, is supposed to be disqualified for membership in the Venezuelan arbitration court, as he is committed to an opinion through his advocacy of the British case. Sir Edward Clarke, ex-solicitor general, and Sir Frederick Pollock, former professor of jurisprudence of Oxford university, are also disqualified, the former through his opposition to the British claim, and the latter by his support of them.

It is surmised that Lord Salisbury will select Lord Herschell, formerly lord high chancellor, and now a member of the judicial committee of the privy council, and Lord Davey, a lord of appeal in ordinary, and also a member of the judicial committee of the privy council. It may be, however, that Professor Thomas Esikine Holland, Chichele professor of international law at Oxford university, will be selected as one of the British judges.

An Indoor Record Broken.

New York, Nov. 15.—Bernard J. Wefers, of the New York Athletic club, broke the indoor record for the 100-yard race three times last night at the first indoor annual record race in Brooklyn. The former record of 10.25 seconds was made by George Doherty, of the New York Athletic club, in ten seconds, and once in 10.15 seconds. The race was a hand-icap and Wefers was the scratch man.

A Dastardly Attempt to Murder the Family of Frank Konjo.

Detroit, Nov. 15.—The house of Frank Konjo, a Pole, in the Michigan avenue road, a mile outside of the city limits was wrecked by the explosion of two sticks of dynamite about 10.30 o'clock last night and three persons were seriously injured, two of them probably fatally. Those injured are:

OUR GRANDMOTHERS,

If you will stop and think, you will remember them as hale and hearty old women, strict and careful in things that pertain to all the physical conditions of both her children and grandchildren; careful, because she did not come in contact with the present day temptations of fashion. If you remember when she was forty-five to fifty-five years of age—the autumn of her life—she was a pleasant faced, rosy cheeked bright-eyed woman. The artificial conditions of a high state of civilization has brought about the necessity for a natural and scientific aid to woman.

The "hustle" to keep even with the world's rapid pace, high living and unattractive hours for sleep, brings in its train a sickly appetite, an impoverished condition of the blood, and there you are a fit subject for a deranged functional organism. Do you know what this means? It means that as a woman you will, when you leave this life, have only partially paid your sacred debt to posterity by leaving a young legacy a weak and puny offspring. Every woman should take NUX-PROSPIO during menstruation. Every mother would do well to see that her daughter takes it during that critical period when she is building into womanhood. It will prevent future misery by strengthening the functional organs and bringing about a healthy action of the liver and kidneys and regulate the bowels. It has prevented the total collapse of thousands of women when passing the changing point of life.

NUX-PROSPIO is sold throughout the civilized world, is an absolutely scientific preparation. Endorsed by physicians. If your druggist is behind the age and does not keep it, go to an up-to-date drug store or write to us. THE NUX-PROSPIO CO., Pittsburgh, Pa.
